Detail Study Mapped For AuSable River

A study in depth of the main arm of the AuSable River above Grayling, in the city and below it, is being mapped by the Resource Council in conjunction with Michigan State University to take place during the month of August.

This was revealed at a meeting at the Grayling City Hall last night on Tuesday of last week. Attending were representatives of the Village of Roscommon, Grayling City Council and Crawford County Board of Supervisors.

It has now taken official action under Public Act 200 to set up an investigation committee. Earl Longworth, manager of the Grayling Area Chamber of Commerce, said the Chamber has now dissociated itself from the problem that the public bodies had started.

He pointed out that the Chamber's "Operation AuSable" had served its primary function to bring the problem into the open.

Speaking at the Tuesday evening session, Dale W. Grainger, Michigan Water Resources Commission staff, cautioned group not to rush into watershed council until they survey their needs, based partly in samples and tests of AuSable to start next month by WRC. "We're not sure that you should proceed under the 1961 watershed council act. You should do what's realistic and possible in economic terms."

He then recommended an older statute in which governmental units (villages, cities, townships, counties) affected could get together on a voluntary program. Grayling and Grayling Township already have agreed to try this approach and Roscommon's city fathers said they would join in working with their neighbors.

Grainger also said that he was "confident" that the pollution sources would be found and that where necessary, legal action would be taken by the state to clean up the problem. He also warned that the days of septic tanks are limited "if you want a trout stream."

Prof. Howard Tanner, newly appointed director of natural resources studies at Michigan State University, again warned that "a lot of well meaning people who love the river so much are squeezing it to death." "The prognosis," he said, "isn't good in the long haul, referring to the danger from 'civilized' front yards and the nutrients prompting weed growth from leaky septic tanks and improperly treated sewage. A trout stream, he said, is a 'fragile thing' and if the environment changes the AuSable will be filled with chubbys, suckers, perch and pike instead of the prized trout. Also warned of the danger of creating too many impoundments.

Others at the meeting said the problem of pollution on the AuSable was extremely complicated and couldn't be solved quickly by jumping into some haphazard solution. Instead, a careful abatement program should be developed and "not take any hasty measures that look good now but in the long range would prove worthless."

George Griffith also said the AuSable Property Owners Association would conduct an educational program of pollution among its 75 members, to point out the dangers of septic tanks too close to the river, discontinuing brush cutting and tree removal along the river bank and also removal of natural fish cover in the stream.

School Election August 2nd

The newly formed Crawford AuSable School District is asking the voters to approve a five (5) mill tax levy for operation for a period of five years at the August 2 election.

This will not be an increase in the school taxes for the voters in the old Grayling School District but only a continuation of the 5 mills extra voted they were already paying before the district reorganization. It will be an increase of one (1) mill for the voters of the Frederic School District.

as their extra millage before reorganization was four mills. The School District will receive 6.03 mills from the County Allocation Board.

The State requires all school districts to levy at least ten (10) mills to participate fully in State Aid.

If the district did not vote for the extra millage they would lose $246,735 or almost half of the total school budget.

It must be pointed out to the electors of the former Frederic School District, the 5 mills to be voted is for operation and NOT TO BE CONFUSED WITH THE DEBT RETIREMENT MILLAGE.

In addition to the five mills needed for operation there will be a 4 mill levy for the retirement of the bonds for the Elementary School in Grayling. THIS IS TO BE LEVIED AND PAID BY THE RESIDENTS OF THE FORMER FREDERIC DISTRICT.

This millage does not need to be voted upon as electors in the Grayling district voted to pay it, or whatever millage was necessary to pay principal and interest falling due on the bonds, each year.

At the end of three years time voters in the combined district will vote to levy the debt retirement millage in the entire district BUT NOT UNTIL THEN.

At this August 2nd election there will also be a ballot requesting the approval of the new Board of Education to transport (bus) students to and from school and one to set the salaries of the board members.

In last week's Avalanche the school budget was explained. In next week's there will be a list of the teachers for next year and what they teach.

Upper Manistee River Group Is Formed

A letter has gone out to more than four hundred and fifty property and cabin owners on the Manistee River, signed by four members of a newly formed organization, the Upper Manistee River Association, inviting attendance at a meeting to be held on Monday, July 25th at 7:45 p. m., Bear Lake Township Hall, Kalkaska County.

Mr. Gerhard, a retired executive of Consumers Power Company, has had a cabin on the Manistee for the past 25 years. Mr. Alder, also a retired businessman, began coming to the area in the 1930's and last year built a cabin on the Manistee. Head Start Nears Windup
By Mrs. Carl Minor
The 1966 Grayling Head Start program is in its fifth week now with one more week to go. The twenty children enrolled have had a variety of experiences to help stir their curiosity and imagination.

Field trips taken include a trip to the dentist for check-ups, a walk to Mr. Thayer's home to observe chickens, a family picnic at Hartwick Pines, a trip to Animal Land, a walk to the hospital to observe how food is prepared and linens are cleaned and ironed.

Many of the children had their first ride on an elevator while there. They visited the chapel, the dining rooms, the doctor's library, and the shop where repairs are made. Another trip included a ride on "Lil Smokey," Barkley's steam train.

Trips yet to be taken include the county library, a walk to the fish hatchery and the final trip will be to "Call Of The Wild" in Gaylord.

Many activities have taken place in the classroom such as filmstrips, peanut games, treasure hunts, touch and tell games, smelling and tasting parties, planting seeds, Q-Tip painting, making jello and biscuits, a birthday party, colored salt and glue art work, and blowing bubbles.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Carl Minor, teacher-director of the local program, spoke on the subject of ballads and folksongs to the parents of the Head Start children. Throughout the talk, she sang a dozen ballads and folksongs. During the rest of the evening the family potluck dinner was planned and refreshments were served. The final family activity will be a potluck dinner held at the elementary all-purpose room on Wednesday, July 27th.

Working with Mrs. Minor on the Head Start program have been Mr. Joseph Stripe, superintendent of the Crawford AuSable School District, Mrs. Earl Griffith and Mrs. Mark Southwell, teacher-aids, Mrs. William Walker, cook, and Miss Lynn Akers, volunteer-aid. The cooperation and interest of all those involved with this program, is deeply appreciated.

The new 160-mile microwave radio system extends from Skyline south to Parma and provides one of several AUTOVON links planned for Michigan with routes by-passing large metropolitan and industrial centers. Tower relay points along the network include the General Telephone exchanges of Houghton Lake, Mt. Pleasant, Alma, and St. Johns.

Adopt Zoning For Grayling Township
The Grayling Township Board at their regular monthly meeting held on Monday evening, July 11, adopted a zoning ordinance which had been prepared by the Grayling-Crawford Planning Commission.

The Planning Commission has met monthly for over three years in preparing zoning and other plans for both the City of Grayling and Grayling Township.

The City of Grayling Council adopted the plans for the city several months ago. The Township Board is now in the process of adopting the plans for the township.

Further particulars of the zoning restrictions and other facets of the plan can be obtained by contacting Grayling Township Supervisor, B. J. Fowler. The Township Board in adopting the projected plan for the township recognized that adjustments in the ordinance will have to be made. Minor variations can be made at a later date when justified but action now was needed to get some sort of order in growth in the township on the record.

Will Leave For Home Saturday

CAMP GRAYLING—Ohio's 37th Infantry Division is in the final days of summer field training here in which the emphasis was on the individual soldier and his weapon.

One major reason for the emphasis on the individual rather than large unit maneuvers, division leaders said, was that nearly one-fourth of the 6,000 members training here have not yet attended basic training and their required six months of active duty.

Reason for the delay in training such a large number of men, it was explained, is that the Army's basic training centers are overcrowded due to increased draft calls.

This second week of training, the entire division has been bivouacked in the field. Live fire exercises and "increased emphasis" on guerrilla and counter-insurgency training have been stressed.

In past years, the division spent all two weeks in the field, not just one. This year, however, only the Artillery units and the engineers and tankers were bivouacked away from the Lake Margrethe area the first week.

The large number of men who have not yet attended basic training also was listed as a major reason for this. It was easier, leaders said, to teach the men what is expected of them in camp than in the field.

The increased emphasis on intelligence training was partly due to the attachment of 28 men of the 342nd Military Intelligence Detachment, an Army Reserve unit.

The detachment aided the division the first week in carrying out aggressor "incidents" and conducted an intelligence school during the second week.

Tuesday, the division operated on a tactical basis—exactly as it would in actual combat.

The training through the first part of the second week was described by the Division operations officer as "better organized" than last year when the 37th was rated one of the highest Reserve or National Guard divisions in the nation.

Comparisons are impossible, it was explained, because of a new "Army grade card" system now in use.

The division will wind up training for the most part Thursday and spend Friday getting ready to pull out for 66 home stations in Ohio.

The first units will depart the Grayling area at 6 a. m. Saturday morning, the last about 4 p. m.

Reports heard around camp, though not official, are that the Ohioans will be returning to Grayling for field training in July 1967 the eighth straight year.

Education Pays Off In Crawford

NEW YORK — The average young man residing in Crawford County who is just starting out to make a living can expect to earn close to $170,000 over the next 45 years or so.

Such are his lifetime income prospects, based upon the amount of schooling he has had, the economic environment in which he lives his probable life span and other factors.

The most important of these is education, according to the findings of various governmental and college bodies.

From that standpoint, the Crawford County resident is in a good position because the education level, locally, is higher than in many areas of the country and is constantly rising.

At the present time, the median amount of schooling being acquired by local men is about 10.6 years, 6.7 percent more than in 1960.

According to figures compiled by the Department of Commerce, some 24.5 percent of the local male population over age 25 are elementary school graduates, another 20.3 percent have completed four years of high school and 5.9 percent are college graduates.

Studies by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center and others show that each added year of school produces greater income for the average person throughout his entire working career.

The current differential between an elementary school graduate and a high school graduate is about $60,000 in lifetime earnings. By the same token, the average college graduate has a $180,000 advantage over the high school graduate. These figures were quoted recently by President Johnson.

As a result, millions of adults in the United States have been returning to school in their spare time, taking courses to improve their basic skills and knowledge.

Some guidance is given to the parents of new-born children who want to start saving now so that they will have enough money at the end of 18 years to send their children to college.

By putting aside $25 a month in a bank that pays 4 1/2 percent compound interest, they will have $8,300 for the purpose when the time comes.

He was re-elected as Mayor of the city of his birthplace and served a total of ten years. He later moved to Michigan. His earlier connection with the Wolverine community was a course at Lansing Community College on Real Estate Appraising and trout fishing trips to the North Branch of the AuSable near Lovells.

Voter Is The Key!

As election day draws inexorably closer, the barometers of public opinion are being pondered by political strategists in both parties. Problems are plentiful, and there have unquestionably been significant shifts in public attitudes as indicated in recent polls and most notably, the California primary. But, what meaning is there, and what bearing it will have at the polls in November is now very much a matter for conjecture.

Overshadowing most issues is the war in Viet Nam. High costs and draft calls mount, American casualties e. Graft, corruption and thievery in South Viet Nam, the expense of American taxpayers, combined with the strife in that war-torn country, and the lack of support, have created highly-mixed emotions on the home front.

Growing inflation continues to increase the cost of living and puts serious strain on many family budgets raising questions about the fiscal wisdom of Administration policy in the minds of many people. Farmers resentful of efforts to control agricultural prices, and the possibility of more tax increases hovers over all. Race riots, demonstrations and disrespect for law and order continue to present a serious challenge despite the passage of legislation advancing the rights and opportunities of minorities. The likelihood of overcrowding of medical and hospital facilities since medicare went into effect July 1, may present serious difficulties.

The magnitude of national concern in these areas is owing up in public opinion and reaction. The recent victory by Republican Ronald Reagan, and the narrowness of Democratic incumbent Edmund G. (Pat) Brown's win over "conservative" Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty in California's gubernatorial primary, viewed by many authorities as a new wave of "conservative strength" and a "sure sign of trouble" for Democrats across the country. The Gallup Poll also indicates President Johnson's popularity has slipped considerably to a low of 46 per cent. So far this trend is apparently continuing.

Whether or not these tests of voter attitudes presage a new wave of conservatism or a preview of the November elections is of prime concern to both parties. Republicans hope the tide is going out for their political counterparts and look to a gain of 40 or more congressional seats in November. Democrats, meanwhile, concede they may lose some seats. Some Democrats fear a loss of 50-60 seats if things do not change. A net shift of 78 seats would be necessary for the GOP to gain control of the House.

If a conservative tide is coming — Republicans would seem to have a good chance of picking up the 40-50 seats they foresee. But, a recent Iowa poll showing disenchantment with the Administration also indicated that Senator Robert Kennedy, although an avowed non-candidate, was favored over President Johnson as the Democratic standard-bearer in 1968. Senator Kennedy is far from being, in any sense of the word, a conservative. Thus, it might be that the "man" rather than the "principle" he represents is the deciding factor in many voters' minds.

Whatever the case, the great race for political power is on, and this promises to be a political year of exceptional import. Is massive government spending and extension of federal responsibility for state, local and individual welfare the "open sesame" to voter approval? Is individual candidate personality and appeal the primary consideration, or do voters in the final analysis decide on the basis of ideas and alternative principles of government expressed by prospective public officials. How strong is party loyalty and traditional support from geographical areas? The voters hold the key, and in the polling places this fall they will answer the questions and open the doors to public office for the candidates of their choice.

Local Woman's Grandson Wedded In Saginaw

The Rev. Thomas R. Horton read nuptial vows at St. Peter and Paul's Catholic Church of Saginaw Saturday, June 25, 1966, for Miss Marilyn Jean Kelly and Airman 3/c Richard Ned Wiggins. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harrison R. Kelly of 1220 Maple Street and her husband's Mr. and Mrs. George P. Wiggins, 20 Westview Court, Saginaw.

The bride chose a gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace fashioned with a scallop Sabrina neckline and fitted bodice. A lace-edged apron complemented her tiered skirt. Her crystal and pearl headpiece secured an illusion veil and she carried pink roses and streamers of Stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor Mrs. Bernard D. Ballard of Saginaw, sister of the bride, wore a turquoise dress featuring a lace bodice, sheath skirt with floating panel, and matching bandeau. Her bouquet was of white and aqua carnations.

Miss Deborah J. Kelly also a sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Gary Brandimore was best man and Richard P. Kelly, brother of the bride, junior groomsman.

Airman Wiggins is a grandson of Mrs. Emma Knibbs of Grayling, who attended. The newlyweds are at home at McGuire AFB, New Jersey.

Since I arrived here I have been

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

This is Nancy Dykema's first letter for the Avalanche. A former resident, she is in Mexico this summer on a student exchange program.

"Hola!"

With one week in Mexico City as an exchange student I'm beginning to feel at home. I have a wonderful family who go out of their way to do things for me and treat me as one of their own daughters. My family, the Fernandez Ongay's, consists of two girls; Yolanda (17) and Claudia (15), my mother, my father, who owns several record stores in Mexico City and is president of a small Mexican airlines, and two boxer dogs. Mexican families and friends are very affectionate. There is always a kiss for hello, good-bye, thank you etc., and much handshaking. The family is still a tightly knit group.

One's appetite is cut in half here because of the mealtime hours and altitude. In a Mexican home breakfast is around 8 a. m., dinner which is their large meal at 3 p. m. and a light supper around 9 p. m.

I live in Pedregal, where the homes are very large, beautiful and artistically landscaped. Mexican homes are enclosed behind a wall with a large door, which is only opened from the inside. Typical Mexican homes make use of unusual iron latticework on the windows and beautifully carved, wooden doors.

Since I arrived here I have been most impressed with University City, the University of Mexico. It is most famous for the mosaics pictured on the side of the buildings.

My biggest surprise was the traffic. You might call it fast, informal, and bad news for the pedestrians!

Most high school students go to school from 8 a. m. to 2:30 p. m., and take eight subjects. There is a lot of homework at night and exams are difficult. The students are active and talented in various areas.

I'll always remember this summer. My only regret is that there weren't 21 students going to Mexico from Grayling as there were from Topeka, Kansas.

A thank-you to the clubs and people of Grayling, and Mrs. Stripe for making this summer possible. I hope you can realize how educational this experience is and will continue to support the program so even more can participate.

Adios,
Nancy Dykema

CAMP AU SABLE LAYS TRAIL OF STATES

Camp Manager Harold Jewkes prepares to "plant" a stepping stone from Idaho.

The trail of the states is a special project for the campers at Camp AuSable. Stepping stones from each state are being "planted" on the path around the emerald pool. These stones were brought to the camp from the different states by visitors and friends. Up to the present 35 states are represented and it is planned that all fifty will have their marker on the trail.

This trail of the states gives campers the challenge of studying rocks from different parts of the U. S. A. and also acts as a conversational journey as they slowly make their way around this beautiful spot of nature.

In addition to stones, ferns are also being planted near the emerald pool. Last fall three ferns were added from the state of Washington. The Maidenhair fern, was brought in from southern Michigan. Others are being transplanted so that the campers may easily see and study all the ferns that grow in this area.

Trails thru the forest are being enlarged and lengthened. Markers are placed to help campers and visitors identify the trees, shrubs, flowers, ferns, mosses, etc.

I always plan my vacations carefully. They're more fun that way. They're also safer. Because for me planning a vacation includes making sure the family car is in good shape.

I check my brakes, my tires. I see that my engine is tuned.

Now I know it's a lot easier for me to do these things than it is for you since I run a Standard Oil Station. On the other hand, it's probably more important for you to have them done since I keep a close eye on my car all the time.

My point: include your car in your vacation plans. Have it checked over before you start out.

I'd be glad to do the job. But whether you pick me or not, make sure it's done.

If it's me you come to, we might spend a couple of minutes talking about a Standard Oil Credit Card. It's a mighty handy thing to have when you're far away from home.

Miss Margaret Husted Marks 94th Birthday

Wednesday, July 6th, marked the ninety-fourth birthday of Miss Margaret Husted and the occasion was made memorable by a day of celebration.

The Lovells Chapel Guild was invited by Miss Douglas to help "Auntie Mike" celebrate, and there were twenty-six members and guests at the noon luncheon. Guests were served punch by Mrs. Edgar Caid and Mrs. Patrick Harwood from a punch bowl painted by a famous artist, George Leykauf, and presented approximately 30 years ago as a gift to Mrs. T. E. Douglas, Miss Husted's sister. Mr. Leykauf was a frequent guest at the Douglas Hotel. The only duplicate of this bowl won a gold medal at an art exposition in France, and bowl and medal are now on display at Greenfield Village.

Miss Husted opened her many tokens of affection from her guests at a table covered with an heirloom cloth trimmed with lace knitted many years ago by her mother, Mrs. William Husted.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Horsell and Mrs. James Husted of West Branch and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith and children from Dearborn.

To conclude the happy day a birthday dinner was enjoyed by Miss Husted and "her family" which included besides the hostess Margaret Douglas, the Tom Douglas family and Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas.

Miss Husted has made her home for the past ten years with her niece-nephews, Margaret Douglas at the Douglas Hotel. Prior to that time she had been a resident of West Branch, where at a recent Alumni Banquet she was honored as the only living member of the original graduating class of West Branch High School, Class of 1892. ## Attend The Church Of Your Choice

You never mistake the meaning of a Church symbol. Even to those who are cold to the ideals for which the Church stands, that finger of faith always points to something that is comforting, reassuring, safe.

The very presence of a Church, whether in a crowded city street or on a quiet country road, is a benediction to all, including those who are not conscious of worship.

Such an influence, with what it means to those who open their hearts to truth, is worthy of a second thought. It merits acceptance as a refuge. It commands confidence as a port in time of storm.

The Church deserves your support — your membership — because it affords real protection for the family whose welfare it is your duty to defend and whose proper upbringing is your solemn obligation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.
